

GRAMERCY PARK CHRISTMAS TREE ARRIVES

A neighborhood tradition, delivery and installation of the Gramercy Park Christmas tree, took place last week. Once again, the tree was provided and installed by the Boag family of Seaside Park, New Jersey, which has done so for the past twenty-nine years.

Arlene Harrison, a Park Trustee and President of the Gramercy Park Block Association, and Kathleen Scupp, Of Counsel to the Trustees, welcomed the Boags and their nursery workers to the Park, as did Park caretaker Amando Flores, who then assisted in the installation of the forty-foot Norway Spruce. This is believed to be the tallest Christmas tree that has ever been placed in the Park.

James M. Clark, Jr., Chairman of the Trustees of Gramercy Park, spoke of how pleased the Trustees are to be sponsoring both the annual Christmas Eve Caroling around the tree, and Brotherhood Synagogue's annual Chanukah Menorah Lighting Ceremony in the Park.
